Occupied Jerusalem, January 12 (QNA)– One Palestinian was injured by Israeli gunfire at the entrance to the town of Samu'a, south of Hebron.

According to Palestinian news agency (WAFA), the Israeli occupation forces opened fire at a young man in his twenties near the metal gate at the entrance of Samu'a, injuring him in the leg.

Various areas across the occupied West Bank and Jerusalem face daily raids by the Israeli occupation forces and colonists. These operations involve arrests and confrontations, including the use live ammunition, rubber bullets and tear gas. The frequency of these campaigns has escalated alongside the ongoing Israeli aggression on the Gaza Strip since October 2024.
