Doha, May 14 (QNA) – HE Ambassador of the United States to Qatar, Timmy Davis, emphasized that the upcoming visit of HE President Donald Trump to Doha reaffirms the strength of bilateral relations and the deepening cooperation between the two nations. In exclusive remarks to Qatar News Agency (QNA), he stated that US-Qatar relations, founded on mutual respect and shared interests, have never been stronger, reflecting their increasing alignment in addressing regional and global challenges.

Ambassador Davis highlighted that high-level engagements between the leadership of both countries continue to solidify this strategic partnership, reflecting their commitment to combating terrorism, expanding trade and investment, and promoting regional stability. He noted that the US and Qatar remain trusted allies dedicated to fostering peace, prosperity, and global cooperation.

The Ambassador pointed out that the US-Qatar Strategic Dialogue has been instrumental in advancing cooperation across various sectors, including security, trade, and diplomatic engagement. He praised Qatar's efforts in emerging sectors such as healthcare, information technology, and cybersecurity, marking them as key areas for future collaboration and innovation.

Touching upon joint mediation efforts, Davis commended Qatar's significant role in promoting peace and stability in Gaza, working alongside the US and Egypt to secure humanitarian aid and negotiate ceasefires. He acknowledged Qatar's active role in conflict mediation and its commitment to long-term peace solutions in the region.

Ambassador Davis also highlighted Qatar's status as a major non-NATO ally and its hosting of the largest US military presence in the Middle East, underscoring its importance as a strategic defense partner. He emphasized that this status enhances military cooperation, security coordination, and access to advanced US defense technology, benefiting both nations' defense priorities.

Regarding regional and global issues, Davis noted that Qatar's contributions extend beyond the Middle East, playing a vital role in diplomatic mediation in Africa and supporting stability in Lebanon, Syria, and Afghanistan. He expressed appreciation for Qatar's efforts in securing the release of US nationals and mediating peace in conflict zones, further underscoring the growing trust between the two nations.

Concluding his remarks, the US Ambassador reiterated the United States' commitment to multilateral cooperation with Qatar, working through international institutions to bolster security, humanitarian relief, and global conflict resolution, reaffirming both nations' shared vision for a peaceful and prosperous future.
