London, June 27 (QNA) – The State of Qatar participated today in the Global Humanitarian Forum held in London, which was organized with the participation of the Doha Forum.

The State of Qatar was represented at the forum by HE Minister of State for International Cooperation Maryam bint Ali bin Nasser Al Misnad.

In her address to the forum, Her Excellency emphasized the importance of adhering to a principled and consistent approach to humanitarian work, especially in light of escalating global crises and challenges. Her Excellency noted that, when legal frameworks are not upheld, principles and ethics must guide humanitarian action to ensure its continuity based on neutrality, non-discrimination, and the protection of human dignity.

Her Excellency stressed that implementing international humanitarian law and related conventions is not a choice but a legal and moral obligation to safeguard civilians and preserve human dignity.

Her Excellency also pointed out that ongoing serious violations of these laws underscore the urgent need to uphold humanitarian and ethical principles, describing them as the strongest defense against violations and the foundation for protecting human rights and promoting global humanitarian justice.

Her Excellency also affirmed that Qatar is committed to playing an active role in promoting dialogue and striving for stability. She highlighted the country's unwavering commitment to delivering humanitarian aid to those who need it most, particularly the most vulnerable, without discrimination.

HE the Minister of State for International Cooperation further said that the State of Qatar gives special attention to supporting women in conflict zones and is committed to highlighting their role in peace and security processes through various initiatives that reflect the country's belief in empowering women as key partners in achieving stability and building communities.
