Doha, July 13 (QNA) – The Ministry of Interior (MOI), represented by the Civil Defense Council, announced that compensation will be provided to citizens and residents whose private properties (residential buildings, vehicles, industrial facilities, and commercial establishments) have sustained damages as a result of falling sharpnel from the interception of Iranian missiles. These damages must have been previously documented through official reports filed with the competent security departments.

The Civil Defense Council affirmed that this measure comes in continuation of the directives of HH the Amir Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani to identify and assess the damage resulting from the incident.

In a statement on Sunday, the MOI noted that the affected individuals will be contacted by the Civil Defense Council to complete the compensation procedures in accordance with the approved laws and regulations.

The MOI said that individuals who have not yet documented their cases may still submit a compensation request through the Metrash application within two (2) days from the date of this announcement. This can be done by accessing the “Request” icon located under the “Communicate with us” window of the app, selecting the designated service, filling in the required information, providing a description and address, uploading any images or supporting documents (if available), and finally confirming the submission of the request.

The MOI stressed that no claims will be accepted after the expiration of the mentioned deadline
