MIRPUR (AJK): July 19: While inaugurating Monsoon Tree Plantation drive at adjoining town of Islamgarhin Mirpur on Saturday, Commissioner Mirpur Division Chaudhry Mukhtar Hussain has said that planting trees was a charity, the main reason for the prevailing environmental changes was the cutting of trees and the lack of interest in planting new trees individually and collectively.

He expressed these views while launching the monsoon tree planting campaign in the office of Assistant Commissioner in adjoining Islamgarh town on Saturday

The Commissioner appealed citizen to show national responsibility by planting at least one tree in the current tree planting season, there is a need to plant a large number of trees at homes, offices' vacant open spaces.

Commissioner Mirpur Division Chaudhry Mukhtar Hussain said that in the current era, environmental The main reason for the change is the indiscriminate cutting of trees. We need to think today to avoid climate change and secure the future of future generations. If tree plantation is not taken seriously, future generations may have to bear its losses. He said that planting trees is an ongoing charity, so we should all actively participate in this good deed. During the current tree plantation season, everyone should plant trees while realizing their responsibility. Plant as many trees as possible in whatever land you have. Planting as many trees as possible will have a positive impact on the environment and can also help get rid of climate change.

The Div Commissioner said that an integrated plan has been devised to plant a large number of trees in Mirpur division with the cooperation of various departments and various sections of the civil society with the cooperation of the Forest Department and other departments. Free of cost trees will be provided to the masses and the institutions seeking to join the tree plantation drive, he added. “Now it is the responsibility of the public to plant these trees at better places and protect them by enthusiastically joining the ongoing campaign.
