Overseas Pakistanis Welfare Council Kashmir Forum's President, Malik Amir Kabul, has enthusiastically welcomed the resumption of Pakistan International Airlines (PIA) flights to the UK. PIA successfully began its regular flights from Islamabad to Manchester after a long and challenging suspension, the Malik Amir Kabul congratulated PIA and the entire nation on this historic occasion. Malik Amir Kabul stated that this moment is filled with emotion and joy for every Pakistani and Kashmiri, as the national airline is once again raising its banner of flights on the world map, says a message reaching and released to the media here on Tuesday.

He said PIA's move is not merely the restoration of air links between Pakistan and the UK; it is also a means to reconnect countless families and relatives. He added that after years of relentless effort, administrative resilience, and national spirit, the hearts of every Pakistani and Kashmiri are filled with pride and gratitude now that the PIA aircraft has flown again in international airspace.

"This is not just a flight; it is a flight of hope, emerging as a new symbol of Pakistan's better future and development," he remarked. He expressed confidence that this restoration is not limited to one route but signals the launch of more international routes in the coming days.

Kabul emphasized that when the intention is sincere, the resolve is strong, and the goal is national service, no obstacle can stand in the way of the destination. He paid tribute to all the hard-working individuals, pilots, engineers, and administrative staff who quietly made these steps possible.

He concluded with a prayer that Allah Almighty grants Pakistan continuous progress and prosperity, expressing his belief that “our national airline will surely make its name famous around the world.
