Doha, December 17 (QNA)— Amid a world increasingly affected by crises, conflicts, and complex humanitarian challenges, the State of Qatar continues to consolidate its position as a global beacon of dialogue, mediation, and the promotion of peace, security, and stability. This prominent role is rooted in the wise guidance and sound vision of HH the Amir Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani, whose leadership has shaped Qatar's principled and proactive foreign policy.

Qatar's approach to international relations reflects an unwavering commitment to just causes, humanitarian solidarity, and constructive engagement. Its sustained support for Arab and other nations has made humanitarian diplomacy a defining pillar of its regional and global presence, earning widespread respect and recognition. Mediation and peaceful conflict resolution have become enduring constants of Qatar's foreign policy, enabling it to achieve notable successes acknowledged by countries, international organizations, and United Nations bodies.

Under the leadership of HH the Amir, Qatar has consistently raised the banners of peace, development, prosperity, and the preservation of human dignity across regional and international platforms. The State firmly believes that peace and stability are universal aspirations, that wars impose unbearable humanitarian and economic costs, and that lasting peace can only be achieved through justice, dialogue, and mutual understanding.

The speeches of HH the Amir at the United Nations General Assembly and other international forums have carried clear humanitarian messages, emphasizing that Qatar has been and will remain a source of relief for those in need, a supporter of the oppressed, and an advocate for truth, justice, and moral values. These positions present Qatar as a state that builds bridges of dialogue, cooperation, and solidarity, while fostering hope and stability at both regional and global levels.

Qatar has continued working closely with its regional and international partners to bring conflicting parties to the negotiating table, seeking sustainable peace for populations suffering from wars and prolonged crises. HH the Amir's regular participation in United Nations General Assembly sessions underscores Qatar's commitment to mobilizing all its diplomatic, political, and humanitarian capabilities to promote global security, stability, development, and prosperity.

The State of Qatar's foreign policy is grounded in stable principles that align with its national interests, Islamic, Arab, and Gulf identity, and international obligations. It is based on political realism, preventive diplomacy, dialogue, and support for consensual political solutions, while maintaining the flexibility required for effective mediation in complex conflict environments.

These efforts have significantly strengthened Qatar's global standing and firmly linked its name to successful initiatives aimed at defusing crises worldwide. For more than two years, Qatar has played a central role in efforts to halt the war in the Gaza Strip and alleviate the suffering of the Palestinian people, harnessing its political and humanitarian resources to pursue sustainable solutions that guarantee security and stability for the region.

Believing that instability knows no borders, Qatar has also contributed to addressing the Russian-Ukrainian crisis and multiple conflicts across Africa. A major milestone was the signing of the Doha Framework Agreement for Peace between the government of the Democratic Republic of Congo and the Congo River Alliance "March 23 Movement." Building on the Doha Declaration of Principles, the agreement emphasizes structured dialogue, confidence-building measures, protection of civilians, respect for human rights, the safe return of displaced persons, and national reconciliation.

Qatar's diplomatic efforts have further included sponsoring peace negotiations in Darfur, hosting the Lebanese National Dialogue, facilitating talks between the United States and the Afghan Taliban that culminated in a peace agreement, and supporting negotiations in Chad, as well as mediation efforts involving Somalia, Kenya, and other countries.

Beyond conflict resolution, Qatar's mediation extends to addressing humanitarian needs and supporting social development, poverty reduction, job creation, and youth empowerment. HH the Amir Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al-Thani has repeatedly affirmed that the State of Qatar will remain an active and responsible partner in the international community, supporting peace initiatives, development efforts, and hope for future generations.

Despite global challenges and complexities, Qatar's record remains rich with achievements that underscore its enduring role as a constructive force for peace, stability, cooperation, and human dignity across the world.
