In the 30th Azlan Shah Hockey Cup, Pakistan maintained their unbeaten run, securing a draw against New Zealand. The match, held in Malaysia's Ipoh city at 1 pm (PKT), marked Pakistan's fifth appearance in the tournament. Both teams displayed formidable skill and determination, resulting in a deadlock where neither side could clinch victory. Despite numerous attempts, the scoreboard remained unchanged, with both Pakistan and New Zealand earning one point each. The draw, confirmed by the Pakistan Hockey Federation (PHF), solidifies Pakistan's position in the competition, highlighting their resilience and prowess on the hockey field.
