London, July 10 (QNA) – Advisor to the Prime Minister and Official Spokesperson for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs Dr. Majed bin Mohammed Al Ansari participated in a roundtable discussion on middle powers and the reshaping of the global order, on the sidelines of the annual London Conference organized by Chatham House.

During the discussion, Dr. Al Ansari addressed the transformations taking place in the international system, noting the growing role of middle powers in promoting regional and international stability amid the challenges posed by competition among major powers.

He also discussed several lessons drawn from recent regional developments, emphasizing the importance of diplomacy and regional coordination in managing crises, as well as the role of partnerships and cooperation in strengthening security and stability.

The Advisor to the Prime Minister and Official Spokesperson for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs added that current global developments call for a more comprehensive approach to the concept of strategic autonomy, including strengthening the capacity to address challenges related to security, defense, energy, and supply chains, thereby contributing to the development of a more cooperative and effective international order.
