Stockholm, May 29 (QNA)– The Swedish government announced on Wednesday that it will provide Ukraine with a new military support package worth around USD 1.3 billion, including Airborne Surveillance and Control aircraft.

This is the largest Swedish military support package to Ukraine to date, provided to support the country in the war against Russia.

Sweden said that the two Airborne Surveillance and Control aircrafts (ASC 890) it will provide, will strengthen Ukraine's collective air defense and enable it to identify and engage targets at long range.
