President Asif Ali Zardari has criticised the PML-N-led government over its handling of International Monetary Fund (IMF) deal and its reliance on loans. “The IMF loans are a test for the public,” Zardari said, accusing the PML-N of failing to manage the government effectively. “We know how to form and dismantle governments,” he declared, promising that the PPP would take decisive action. Party leaders voiced their concerns about the lack of cooperation from the Punjab and federal governments. “We are not getting our full rights,” a leader complained, pointing out that electoral issues remain unresolved. Zardari assured the leaders of addressing their grievances directly, stating his commitment to active engagement in Islamabad and Lahore. He emphasized the PPP’s unmatched capability in Pakistani politics, viewing criticism of the party as a form of recognition. Directing the PPP Punjab leadership to collaborate in resolving internal issues, Zardari affirmed, “We are conducting a test of the people by taking IMF loans. The Muslim League (N) is not in power. We know how to form and dismantle governments. We will not abandon our people.” He urged PPP workers to prepare for intensified efforts ahead, particularly in promoting youth leadership within the party’s ranks. Zardari also called for a comprehensive report on the party’s organizational structure, emphasizing the need to move beyond the politics of closed rooms and take proactive steps forward. Previously, President Asif Ali Zardari revealed the government’s intention to impose taxes on agricultural income in alignment with the International Monetary Fund (IMF) conditions. This initiative will primarily be managed by provincial governments, he said, targeting large landholding farmers based on their profitability and expenditures. Zardari made these remarks during the Professor Waris Mir Memorial Seminar held in Lahore on Tuesday, where he also addressed issues concerning media and democracy. Highlighting the economic challenges faced by the country, Zardari emphasised the need for a comprehensive approach and sound financial policies to drive national development. He stressed the importance of modernising various economic sectors, particularly agriculture
