Ukraine on ending the conflict, questioning whether the Ukrainian side was ready as well.

Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov told reporters: "Russia is generally open to a negotiation process. But first we have to understand how ready the Ukrainian side is for this." He added that different statements are being made by Kyiv, pointing that negotiations are a complex process.

Moscow, July 25 (QNA) – The Kremlin signalled on Thursday it was open to negotiations with

"From a legal point of view this problem is on the agenda, but from a practical point of view we are open to achieving our goals through negotiations.
